This is so serious
I'm in too deep to find, my way out of this place
And I know it'll never just go away

This is my own result
And now it's all on me to make things right again
'Cause I know it'll never just go away

It's not my price to pay
And it's not too late, not too late
My guilt won't hold me here
And it's not too late to break away

You can be redeemed again, don't let things shape your life
That have no business there, 'cause you know you can make it all go away Take heart and walk again, those steps were not your own
And if you have the will to fight, just know you won't have to do it alone

It's not your price to pay
And it's not too late, not too late
Your guilt won't hold you here
And it's not too late to break away

It's not my price to pay
And it's not too late, not too late
My guilt won't hold me here
And it's not too late to break away

It's not too late, it's not too late
It's not too late to break away
