

Last Year's Hero "All Over Again"

Visit "All Over Again" on MotoLyrics.com

There's been something that I finally need to say, Seems our friendship has turned from perfect to dissaray.

Times like these i thought you'd always be there,
Now you've cleared things up by proving you
Don't care

'Cause you've gone and done it all over again,
To think that I ever called you my friend.

There's been moments some good,
Some of them the worst of times.

But now I won't take the blame it was you that was out of line.

Times like these I thought you'd always be there,
Now you've cleared things up by proving you
Don't care.

'Cause you've gone and done it all over again,

To think that I ever called you my friend.

'Cause you've gone and done it all over again,

To think that I ever called you my friend.

This has grown old, every crack and flaw's your fault

'Cause I was wrong to put my trust in you,

Now i know

In times the lines wear thin, the truth now shows,

Through the highs and lows,

The highs and lows.

'Cause you've gone and done it all over again,

To think that I ever called you my friend.

This has grown old, every crack and flaw's your fault,

Around here.

Visit Last Year's Hero page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.