We'd been friends forever
Or so things might have seemed
But things they change so easily
In spite of reasoning
It's not right
To make believe everything is perfect
When it's not
This time we've lost
Everything that meant so much take back all that
We said never meant
So lets try to forget.
All we said are now whispers in our heads
Lost for now but not lost for good
Somehow now i wish i could
Its not right
To make believe everything is perfect
When it's not

This time we've lost
Everything that meant so much take back all that
We said never meant
So lets try to forget.
You were there
When i needed everything
But now your gone
Im not giving in
Lets try and sort this out
Why try when everything seems to
Fall apart
This time we've lost
Everything that meant so much take back all that
We said never meant
So lets try to forget.
Even though it's over we tried
Even though this is the end, goodbye.
