

Late Of The Pier "The Bears Are Coming"

Visit "The Bears Are Coming" on MotoLyrics.com

"Snap away," she said, as she danced towards the moonlight.

Run away, he did, as she cast off another night.

So intuned were we by the thought of what

Could never be.

So consumed were we by feelings felt between the sheets.

What do they mean?

Seamless dirty dreams.

Why must you scream?

Please don't make a scene.

She thinks she plays,

Is it all a game?

No need to be tame,

Sugar melts the acid rain.

I saw you wading in the water,

I saw you ride along the sea.

Shine on a nightmare,

Shine through the trees.

Visit Late Of The Pier page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.