The sun rises when I see you
It lights up, I'm near you
It brightens up when I hear you
The sky's blue, it's a clear view

I sit here staring at the wall, waiting for that Call, tell me where it all went wrong
Everything I've ever done, with you my only one, No thoughts of what I'd lose when you're gone

In this world, without you
Everything's a shade of grey
Nothing left for me to say

So, take me with you
Restore my broken clarity
Pull me back from misery

Light me up, I'm lost
It reminds me of everything we once had together
Can you hold me up I've fallen down

The seasons change and months go by Time slows down, together
A moment becomes an hour
Beside one another

I sit here staring at the wall, waiting for that Call, tell
me where it all went wrong
Everything I've ever done, with you my only one, No
thoughts of what I'd lose when you're gone

In this world, without you
Everything's a shade of grey
So, take me with you
Restore my broken clarity
Pull me back from misery

Light me up, I'm lost
It reminds me of everything we once had together
Can you hold me up I've fallen down

I've fallen down, fallen down, fallen down
Can you hold me up, cause I'm fallen down, fallen down...

In this world, without you
Everything's a shade of grey

So, take me with you
Restore my broken clarity
Pull me back from misery...

Light me up, I'm lost
It reminds me of everything we once had together
Can you hold me up I've fallen down

Light me up, I'm lost
It remind me of everything we once had together
Can you hold me up I'm fallen down...
