Windblown and broken down
All that was yours, ashes on the ground
You scream, a silent sound
A cry for help, an empty call, it's drowned out
Not in control, of anything
Forgot my way, wandering
Losing my hold, nothing seems real
I hear no answer

Chilled to the bone
The ever silent drone
Surrounding us
The twisted fate that we endure
Is just a joke by some higher power?
No choice, our path is set in stone
Gaze beyond the endless horizon
Confounding us, knowing there's no real cure
Chained and held by our powerlessness
Fight the shadows to break free

Searching now, walking miles
A clear sign, barren all around
Another step, seems to takes a while
Burdened by, a feeling of, regret
Silent and cold, a slipping grip
Reaching far, waiting to slip
Feeling alone, surrounded and trapped
I hear no answer

Chilled to the bone
The ever silent drone
Surrounding us
The twisted fate that we endure
Is just a joke by some higher power?
No choice, our path is set in stone
Nothing's real, it's all a failing illusion
Hazy visions, not real and left unclear
Colorless, a shapeless image
Blur the lines to break free

A reflection of what you've done
Whoa

Sends ripples through the world
An aftershock has yet to come
Whoa
Will shatter the new and old
Another one fights to gain control
Whoa
Now they try and pull your strings
Your actions are not your own
Whoa
Yeah! yeah!

Chilled to the bone
The ever silent drone
Surrounding us
The twisted fate that we endure
Is just a joke by some higher power?
No choice, our path is set in stone
Frozen still, the darkness rising
A shadow falls over you, enveloping
Left alone, like a broken tower
Exposed to the wind and broken free

Stranded here, the darkness rising
A shadow falls over you,
Left alone, like a fallen tower
Exposed to the wind and broken free
