I guess I'm not the perfect human being
But I really want to live under your will
I've been hesitating for a lifetime now
And I have chosen the narrow way but still

A question tears my mind apart
You must have planned this right from the start

You turned my feet, my soul, my heart
And I understand know that You love me more
More than I'll ever know

When problems gather over and around me
I know your pain was even, even worse
When I try to disappear, You're right by my side
And I can't hide

And we will never be apart
This was Your plan right from the start

You turned my feet, my soul, my heart
And I understand know that You love me more
More than I'll ever know

So use my feet, my soul, my heart
'Cause I understand now that You love me more
More than I'll ever know
That You love me more than I'll ever know
