According to the radio
Even in the dark there's still the ray of hope
And I believe it

'Cause in this [Incomprehensible]
On that magic night your music has to spare
And I will see it

When you play that song of love we feel right here
Mr. Right could use a little help again

Hearts always breaking, tears start to fall
She's on top of the world then she loses it all
Some fool learns that she never should have let him go

So I'm driving tonight in the pouring rain
Just me and the DJ keeping the faith
And he's coming back I know
According to the radio

Tell me what I'm supposed to do
'Cause you're the only one who knows what I'm going through
And I need an answer

So play him fast or play him slow
As long as in the end the boy is coming home
That's all I'm asking

Oh, you're starting to fade, I can hear us breaking up
But through all of the static I hear the words forever love
So I turn it up

'Cause hearts always breaking, tears start to fall
She's on top of the world then she loses it all
And some fool learns that she never should have let him go

So I'm driving all night in the pouring rain
Just me and the DJ keeping the faith
And he's coming back I know

According to the radio

Oh, it's a lonely road
Oh, and I think I, I don't have to ride it alone
Coming in clear and strong

So I'm driving tonight in the pouring rain
Just me and the DJ keeping the faith
He's coming back I know
According to the radio
