"Little Things"

I try to write the perfect verse
But it always sounds like someone else's words
And these little things matter most
But all the love songs in the world
Don't come close
You make it better
You make me try
So...

You

But it's not enough, it never was
All my bad attempts to try can't make it up
All these little things combine
With every breath I'm singing
Everything inside
You make it better
You make me try
So...

You

The little things
All the little things
The little things
For you
For you
For you
You

In every breath
In every word
You
