We're on a wire but it's better than drowning
And I don't care if I fall cuz I've never been higher Everythings changing but I don't care for sameness
'Cause safety makes graves of the fearful I find

A ride on a wave, a home on a wind-blown cloud
Make your body loud for me

Could you be safe in my arms, and scared at the same time
Running towards and away 'til you're standing still

The mystery's calling, come if you dare
And find what is there when you tear down the walls
No you're gonna wait til the moment is certain While I've been out searching for reasons to fall

Hard is the ground you're wrapping your arms around
