Open up your eyes
Awake, arise
Love like a hand reaches down
And pulls us up from the dirty ground

Now is the time
To step from the dark into the light
Cause you can't change what you've done
But you can choose who you'll become

(CHORUS)

Every moment is a second chance
At starting over, at starting over
Move from the past to the present tense
You can start over, start over again

If you feel ashamed
Of the choices that you've made
You can be whole again
And return to your innocence

(CHORUS)

Every moment is a second chance
At starting over, at starting over
Move from the past to the present tense
You can start over, start over again

Yesterday is gone
Today is all you've got
You don't have to be who you've been
You can change within
It's never too late
To start over again

(CHORUS)

Every moment is a second chance
At starting over, at starting over
Move from the past to the present tense
You can start over, start over again
