Whenever you want it then there is a call
To break down your silence, to give and to crawl
That your good nature won't help the disease,
That there's— is no time whenever your please

A world full of darkness that maybe ahead
The only way out seems to become a threat
That there are many reasons why you should awake
You don't have to swallow all that you hate

As soon as you notice, it feels like the flu
A world full of rape - blessed - what you're going through
Just try to find it all out what you wanna do,
Before you can't change it - believe me it's true
The day that this old game would leave you some time
You failed to remember what you had in mind
Were just a fucked up frozen piece of meat
Sometimes cut a piece off - a vermin to treat
They are running you down

But there's— something I don't know
If it might come or will it flow
I can't decide just now what's— right
I could do all but there's— no time
If you don't know, for all that shit you care
Abuse yourself, your friends will be aware
Those who really are, would give it back sometimes
But don't make yourself a whore, don't be so blind
