I don't feel like getting out of bed. cause everything i fell i wish i could replace. fear, confusion, so many dissapointments in my self. i need something to take this, all away. don't hide away, all your pain, i am here. i'll be with you someday. i'll com home to stay, so let's make that getaway. retreat into your own seperate reality. and everytime i try to speak, my words don't come alive. waiting here for you although, i'm too afraid to let you in, your pain is honesty, i couldn't comprehend. you tell me you're better off with a depressed, torn, fucked up life, got one more chance to prove, there are better days. you've been mislead.
