Teacher can you tell me what to do?
How can I ever walk into your room?
And will I know exactly what to say?
Instead of always worrying about it for a change

Kathy, Lisa, Mary-Beth and Math
 to a glass
I pretended not to care but I'll admit
They used to always break my heart but no!
I do renounce them, I do renounce them
They used to always break my heart but no!
I do renounce them, I do renounce them

Take my out to look at all the stars
I want you where the secret behind it
I do want to be light years away
I still have people wondering about me everyday

I hope to one day speak to you with an out loud voice on the dance-floor
And I hope one day to look at you blinded by the lights above
And I hope the sound of Saint-Etienne
Like pouring rain will speak my name

I read your every word but now I have learned
I do renounce them, I do renounce them
I read your every word but now I have learned
I do renounce them, I do renounce them
