Yo I seen things your mind would never believe but the things I have I got from my grieve If you believe then you will receive the heart that I have that I really don't need Ever since I lost you I've been on my knees looking towards the sky begging god please don't take my love away because if you do there will be no more to say cause theres only silence from today Goodbye to nothing thats what you said we were goodbye to the talks that never even accrued goodbye to our love that I think is absurd and goodbye to the love that I thought was my first So don't give me that crap that you even cared cause I know your lying that's why I came prepared And protected my heart by bringing a spare and hold a dream catcher to prevent nightmares
