No one ever thought that I'll be looking for a run away
Every time I turn around I lose you to another face
I knew you were perfectly wrong and first taste
Like a line that should be erase

You never say what you really mean
Kick it around till it goes ugly
Make me wait until it's late

No you never called it love till you lost it,
Now you're acting so surprised when the cost is,
More than you could take,
So live with your mistake,
No you never called it love till you lost it

Sorry I was anything but everything you needed,
I even drew an arrow to my heart, you didn't see it
Wondered what it takes to...

Who you gonna hurt now that I'm leaving

You never say what you really mean
Kick it around till it goes ugly
Make me wait until it's late

No you never called it love till you lost it,
Now you're acting so surprised when the cost is,
More than you could take,
So live with your mistake,
No you never called it love till you lost it

(Never called it, never called it)

You never say what you really mean
Kick it around till it goes ugly
Make me wait until it's late

No you never called it love till you lost it,
Now you're acting so surprised when the cost is,
More than you could take,
So live with your mistake,
No you never called it love till you lost it
