I remember every touch, every flower
Every word you ever said
I remember how we looked at each other
The very first time we met
I'll never forget

I remember every smile, every letter
Every kiss you gave to me
How we'd talk and you'd hold me for hours
Until I'd fall fast asleep

You said you would always be there
Should I need your arms around me
But now that I've fallen to my knees
I don't think you give a damn about me

And it feels like we're running out of time
And it feels like I'm the last thing on your mind
Oh, I can touch your skin, I can hear you breathe
Baby, will you tell me what's wrong?
'Cause it feels like you're already gone

Did you leave in the middle of the night
And forget to say goodbye?
Did you feel it was time to go
But you didn't wanna see me cry?

It gets harder and harder for me to believe
That you still love me
So get on with it baby if you're gonna leave
It's not worth saving

And it feels like, we're running out of time
And it feels like, I'm the last thing on your mind
Oh, I can touch your skin, I can hear you breathe
Baby, will you tell me what's wrong?
Because it feels like you're already gone

My heart is tellin' me it's too late
To beg you to stay
Wouldn't hear me anyway
Yeah

And it feels like we're running out of time
And it feels like I'm the last thing on your mind
Oh, I can touch your skin, I can hear you breathe
Baby, will you tell me what's wrong?
Because it feels like you're already gone

And it feels like we're running out of time
(You're already gone)
And it feels like I'm the last thing on your mind
And it feels like we're running out of time
'Cause it feels like, oh no
