Cross my heart and I swear the truth
Love was dead to me till I met you
I spent a lot of time building up these walls
Then you come strutting in with your wrecking ball

Just another girl defeated
Till you gave me what I needed

Something I can feel
Something I can feel deep down, yeah
What did I do to deserve someone who gives me love
That gets better and better and better

Sometimes I've gotta bite my tongue
It even freaks me out the way I talk you up
You're like a bad flip on the trampoline
You just say my name, I'm dizzy on my feet

When my day goes numb and empty
You know exactly how to give me

Something I can feel
Something I can feel deep down, yeah
You know you're striking in love
That keeps making this better and better and better

Something I can feel
I never ever need to ask for more, no
What did I do to deserve someone who gives me love
That gets better and better and better

What did I, what did I do
To find someone who gives me your love
What did I, what did I do
To find someone who gives me your love

Something I can feel
Something I can feel deep down, yeah
You know you're striking in love
That keeps making this better and better and better

Something I can feel

Never ever need to ask for more, no
What did I do to deserve someone who gives me love
That gets better and better and better

What did I, what did I do
To find someone who gives me your love
(Something I can feel)

What did I, what did I do
To find someone who gives me your love
(Something I can feel)
What did I, what did I do
To find someone who gives me your love
