And everyday begins the same,
Get up, go out, come back again
Same old, same old

A thousand things has passed you by,
You never look into their eyes.
You feel so ordinary,
They feel so ordinary

Hey, everybody's someone,
No matter where you come from
There's light in every secret star,
You're more than who you think you are.
Hey, everybody's someone,
When it's hard to hold on.
Remember you are not alone,
This house is everybody's home

And everyday we seem to chase,
The perfect smile the perfect face.
Same old, same old (same old)
Ooooooooooh
For everyone begins to shine a million more than met the eye
They feel so ordinary,
You feel so ordinary

Hey everybody's someone
No matter where you come from
There's light in every secret star
You're more than who you think you are
Hey everybody's someone,
When it's hard to hold on
Remember you are not alone,
This house is everybody's home

From a king to a common man
We're all part of a greater plan

There's light in every secret star,
You're more than who you think you are.

Hey, everybody's someone,
When it's hard to hold on
Remember you are not alone,
This house is everybody's home

Hey
Hey
