"Rule The Night"

The dark comes a time and moonlight strikes the hour
One stronghold's reliance so fear comes to power
So fear shine in your eyes
From the armour they once wore
The sound of a thousand stallions words are told
By force we've taken our gold

For the blame in which we guard our lives
We'll fight to the death for his throne
We rule the night
We rule the night
Now is the time
We rule the night
We rule the night
Now the strong will survive

Once he has come and gone
The invincible will conquer them all
His soldiers are proud and they stand
With their backs to the unbreakable wire

Find me true in your life
They flow in from your soul
So do unto another and be bold
Don't sell out or be sold

Through solemn ways such dignified light
Sends honour and hope through our souls
We rule the night
We rule the night
Now is the time
We rule the night
We rule the night
Now the strong will survive

For the blame in which we guard our lives
We'll fight to the death for his throne
In solemn ways such dignified light
Sends honour and hope through our soul

Come to power
The time has struck the hour

Come to power
The time has struck the hour
We rule the night!
We rule the night!
