I bet I've gotten ten phone calls in the past two days Everybody's worried about me, they hate to see me this way

My label says that all of my songs shouldn't be about losing you They've been talking it over, said they know what I should do

I need to start by writing a song that's positive and hopeful
Just by singing happy words will help me, they just know Ok, here goes...

Well I hope... that you're miserable
And I'm positive... that I hate your guts
And it makes me happy to know I'll never
Have to see your face again
Hey, I feel better already
Life is looking up

Just like that Rodney Crowell song that Tim McGraw had a hit with Won't you please remember me, and that you're on my sh*tlist

Hey I hope that you're miserable
And I'm positive that I hate your guts
And it makes me happy to know I'll never
Hey, I feel better already
Life is looking up

Oh yeah, this power of positive thinking is some mighty powerful stuff
I feel better already Life is looking up
