Time can only try to heal the wounds

And mend mistakes of our youth

We were so careless, but it's too late

And there's no changing fate
We kept a secret

They never understood when we dressed in regret

They never really knew what we were going through
Strong, we carry on, we carry shame

And that won't ever go away

No, not completely, we'll keep it close

And we're together alone
We kept a secret

They never understood when we dressed in regret

They never really knew what we were going through
Sirens of silence
We kept a secret, a secret, a secret

We dressed in regret

They never really knew what we were going through
I never told a single soul

I tried to keep our pain in hiding

Why don't the memories let go?

Why can't we disengage the sirens of silence?

Sirens of silence, the sirens
We kept a secret

We never really knew

There's some things that you can't undo
