I had forgotten just what love felt like
And in that motel room all my senses came to life
Oh, the passion in his touch
And I knew I could never get enough

But the worst part of doing what I never should have done
Is that I know there's more where that came from

In the darkness, there's a distance
As I lie here every night
And I beg the Lord, please won't you get this Cheatin' off my mind?

But then he'll call to say that he sure had fun
Just so I'll know there's more where that came from

My guilty conscience can't kill my heart's desire
Just like a drop of rain can't put out a raging fire
Oh, the price I'm paying now
Is a secret that I'm forced to carry around

But the worst part of doing what I never should have
done
Is that I know there's more where that came from

In the darkness, there's a distance
As I lie here every night
And I beg the Lord, please won't you get this
Cheatin' off my mind?

And then he'll call to say that he sure had fun
Just so I'll know there's more where that came from Yes, I'm afraid there's more where that came from
