Remember when I met you on a park bench
And you smiled at me and said that we should be friends
'Cause I was drowning bad up on the dry land
And then you sat beside and put your hand in my hand

And then you picked me up and you put me in a straight line
You looked at me and said that it would be fine

And we'll take our time to find the silver lining
We can make these crying waters, crying waters into wine
Weâ€™ll be alright
Weâ€™ll be alright

Remember when I found you on the cold ground
You were looking up as the sky was looking down
And you said that you were jealous of the bright stars
I said darling, youâ€™ll be brighter than they all are

So then I picked you up and I put you in a straight line
I looked at you and I said that it would be fine

And we'll take our time to find the silver lining
We can make these crying waters into wine
Weâ€™ll be alright
Weâ€™ll be alright

And they, they donâ€™t know our heart
And they wont break us apart
'Cause we, we donâ€™t have so much
But we, all we need is us

If we take our time to find the silver lining
We can make these crying waters, crying waters into
wine
Weâ€™ll be alright
Weâ€™ll be alright

'Cause they, they donâ€™t know our hearts

And they won't break us apart
'Cause we, we don't have so much
But we, all we need is us
If we take our time to find the silver lining
