there was a young man from gosham who took out his bollocks to wash em his wife said "jack if you don't put them back, ill stand on the bastards and squash em" took a bottle of sleeping pills nothing really happened not untill i felt slighty unstable, after looking at the label they were my wife hormone replacement pills and my voice went up a semi-turn and now you can call me joan, and i've lost half a stone i'm happy, go lucky, things come easy to me and it's getting me down, i just wanner be six feet under ground.

i jumped from a bridge, but what i did not invisage as i neared the ground, there was a tightening sound, i caught my braces on the side of the fucking bridge.
and i shot up and down again twice,
i felt revitalised, it was probably the best time i have had in all my fucking life.

oh yes, im happy go lucky.
things come easy to me, and quite frankly its getting me down, i just want to be six feet under ground.

i tired cutting me wrists, i tired but i missed i caught myself somewhere else instead, in fact right between me legs, i now i go and see a gynaecologist and they tried to stich it back on, but they did it all wrong, and now it points in a funny direction, no striaght up!!!
