

Lee Greenwood

"Since You're Gone"

Visit "Since You're Gone" on MotoLyrics.com

I woke up this morning feelin' just as all my head were reelin'
Reelin' from a dream I had last night
Then I'd turned and faced my pillow wept just like a weeping willow Seems like the dream I had was right

You were gone and the love I was givin' is gone And the reason for livin' is gone but the mem'ry of your love lives on Till the day that heaven calls me no one will ever hold me
My love and happiness are gone [steel]
I sit here just thinkin' bout you wonderin' how I'll live without you
Tryin' to figure out what I did wrong
But I guess it doesn't matter if you found a someone better
I'll be here when that someone is gone

You were gone...
My love and happiness are gone my love and happiness are gone

Visit Lee Greenwood page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.