Leather and lace hangin' in place and the fire was as warm as the wine
the leather was hot the lace it was not so she left my side for a time ran into town leaving her gown in a place by the door now the leather and lace still hangs in place but I never see her anymore Leather and lace hangin' in place and desire was as
warm as the wine
the leather was sure the lace couldn't 'dure and endure I did for a time then I run to town leaving my gown with a face like the red lace I wore now the leather and lace still hang in place but I never see him anymore
