I've been retracing the places we've been
The footsteps we left are now lost in the wind
Life is what happens when we're making plans
You gave me your heart but it slipped through my hands

The T.V is talking, the radio's on,
I can't drown out the sound of you gone
What's gonna matter when this moment's done
The world's spinning faster, we're just holding on

(Chorus)

Did I ever stop to say
Did I ever find a way
To catch it when time flew
Did I ever make it show
Did I ever let you know
Nothing else matters but you

Nothing else matters but you

The night's getting longer, the day's still the same
The clock on the wall seems to whisper your name
Don't know why I waited to tell you before
With each day that passes I just love you more

(Chorus)

Did I ever stop to say
Did I ever find a way
To catch it when time flew
Did I ever make it show
Did I ever let you know
Nothing else matters but you

Nothing else matters but you

Time doesn't sit, it runs through our hands
And just where it goes I can't understand
Like an old photograph in white and black
The hours are fading and I just want them back

(Chorus)x2

Did I ever stop to say
Did I ever find a way
To catch it when time flew
Did I ever make it show
Did I ever let you know
Nothing else matters but you

Nothing else matters but you
