[Words & music: Barthold]

I watched those raindrop tears
As they ran down your face
Your flowers be evil
Your vanity, black in grace

On raven wings, open up the night
Lighten up the moon
On raven wings, open up the clouds
And heaven cries with you until the end of time

Mirrored in the moonlight
Of the cold winternight
A marble smile on your lips
And that wicked gaze in your eyes

On raven wings, open up the night
Lighten up the moon
On raven wings, open up the clouds
And heaven cries with you until the end of time
