Imagine the worst days of your life
The times you said it wasn't a problem
But these pills have taken you away
Falling apart, when you're face to face with poison apples
Telling you just one more time will kill this pain

Did you really mean what you said?
You promised me that this would be the last time
That this wouldn't happen again
Did you really mean what you said?

Imagine your fall again
I'm crying blood and try to sleep it off
But the tears fill up my ears again
Asking God as I lie awake
Can you just please keep her safe?

Did you really mean what you said?
You promised me that this would be the last time
That this wouldn't happen again
Did you really mean what you said?
