Iâ'm done with wakinâ' up like this
The lies, youâ've showed me no regret
The pain grows undeniably
That you couldnâ't be the one to tell me

I stayed up inside
There goes my chance to prove that I can be like you
And push you over again

Itâ's no secret you had another man
Burned so hard I could barely stand
But you laid right there in front of me

And made me feel so damn guilty
I held you so completely
But you didnâ't have the heart to tell me

I stayed up inside
There goes my chance to prove that I can be like you
And push you over again

I swallow my pride
I will never sink as low as you
Break your heart in two
And push it all away
