After bombs are dropped to kill
After all the buildings fall
At the time we'll have the will
To climb up from beneath it all
We'll find the strength to live
To rebuild something new
If there's anything forgive
What else can we do

I don't wanna fight your war
I don't wanna play your games
Better pray for world war four
Better hope for something more

So we're forming to our cliques
We will destroy all the clocks
And our weapons will be sticks
And the other side has rocks
And we'll clash over petty shit
But remember all the lies
That all led up to it
And bombed the world to die

I don't wanna fight your war
I don't wanna play your games
Better pray for world war four
Better hope for something more

Nothing to lose,
After all the pain
A little nuclear winter
With a little acid rain
But after this,
They'll be no more
Fucking politics
No more world war four

Better pray for world war four
Better hope for something more
