wish i simplified it for myself then i could deny when it comes down guess i should have lived this misery and kept everything else a mystery want to cut my eyes out for you now so I can never see another face what an innocent disgrace what if I had never bothered to find out what I'd lose guess I should have kept it to myself guess I should have put it on a shelf

never look into those eyes again I'll always be an innocent disgrace holding you hold it in so long it finally weighed you down an now i don't believe that you couldn't see it couldn't see a thing

i'll never look into those eyes again never look into those eyes again
i'll always be an innocent disgrace
