You pay the price to make you feel good
It flows through veins & feeds the soul
The victim of pleasure
You pay & try it all

They never said it would bring madness
They never said it would bring pain

The visions came in all their evil
They scar your mind & scar your skin
Five days & it's still there
You pay & you never win

They never said it would bring madness
They never said it would bring pain

So close to death you almost taste it
You rip your body from the flesh
She knows that you're screaming
You pay & you hold your breath

They never said it would bring madness
They never said it would bring pain
