I'm in the heart's of thousands, you should have never doubted me
I'm alive and not a second sooner, I feel the hate that is following Through my veins inside me.
It consumes me, I won't let you win this time. I'm in the hearts of Thousands where will you be? When the world comes crashing down.

We are on our own, all my friends have failed me, and the truth shall Set you free.

Through the worst I've proved what I'm worth, running and running Around never proving a thing.
To ones who know nothing about you, nobody knows who you are, or what You do you're nobody. You're just a fool. We are on our own, all my Friends have failed me, and the truth shall set your free
Blame yourself for your own destruction.
I will change the world.
