Amnesia was her name, she had beautiful eyes and every word she said, it was a little surprise can't remember when I realized I was in love, la-la-love can't remember who it was I was thinking of Oh my god... oh my god the doctor said that I had tomato loss, all right Dr. Amnesia was her name, she had beautiful eyes we had spaghetti with long term memory sauce, all right

and every word she said, it was a little surprise can't remember how she smiled when she said my name... what's my name?

can't remember cause my heart jumped and hit my brain
C'est l'amour, et blessures

I guess she didn't know how treat me right Because I can't recall where I slept that night I can't recall that special way she told me, each and every day, her name I can't recall the fact that I always said I loved her back the same way, every time the same the doctor said that I had beautiful eyes, all right Amnesia was her name, she had memory loss... no wait and every word I said, it was a little surprising, all right and every word she said didn't make it across can't remember when we walked past the O.R. sign, surgery can't remember passing out with her hand in mine, my-my-mind

I remember waking up with my mind repaired, a-okay I remember when I realized she wasn't there
