You got problems you can't solve,
it's enough to make you start to hate your friends.
You go to a show and they stare at your face.
Don't you know?
You hate your friends.
When you got problems you can't solve,
it's enough to make you start to hate your friends.
You go to a show and they stare at your face.
Don't you know? You hate your friends.
Your face is blushing and your temperature's rising.
Drink yourself silly,
there's no use disguising that you hate your friends.
Go!
Stare at the newspaper, nothing to say.
There's really no use in me going away.
I think I'll go to the drugstore today.
Maybe that chick's working over there today.
When you got problems you can't solve,
it's enough to make you start to hate your friends.

You go to a show and they stare at your face.
Don't you know?
You hate your friends.
When you got problems you can't solve,
it's enough to make you start to hate your friends.
You go to a show and they stare at your face and
don't you know?
You hate your friends.
Your face is blushing and your temperature's rising.
Drink yourself silly,
there's no use disguising that you hate your friends.
You hate your friends.
You hate your friends.
You hate your friends.
