Honest people just watch and ignore
Everybody closing the doors
I don't know if you wanna help
All I see is that you need to lend a hand
After all this time I can't imagine
Why you don't understand

Black or white people (uh huh)
Yellow red purple, who cares
It doesn't matter what colour your skin is
It only matters that something
That comes from within
Black or white people

Nothings changed, nothing is new
Whos to blame for all that we do
Well it really doesn't matter now
Seems like everything will stay the same
You don't know your neighbour
And your neighbour doesn't even know your name

Black or white people (uh-huh)
Yellow red purple, who cares
It doesn't matter what colour your skin is
It's just that beautiful feeling
That comes from within
Black or white people

So many people have tried
They come and go in a while
But now it's just you and I
So come on lets try

Black or white people
Yellow red purple, who cares
It doesn't matter what colour your skin is
It's that incredible something that comes from within
Black or white people
Black or white people
