Now a million minds-a-many all to tell us what we need stripped won in the land of plenty catapult the death machine all the hands are blistered all the minds are empty now all in all hand over end we die together waiting again showing again we sold it for this tiring again beside it again the killer in me holds it again beside it again or someone's trying to get me to change sides now a million faces drowning all together purified stamped out a trigger decision one in all they stand in line all the answers are given truth in numbers multiply all your thoughts are given wanting hand grabs all it can find everytyhing in excess everything at all everything in excess 'till we
