He's the kind of guy
Who's always passing by
Who never has time to spend

And he'll take you for a spin
And won't look within
To find out who you are

And he numbs himself with weed
He's from the coldest breed
Who judge by what they see

And I thought he was smart enough
To know that the girl on his arm
Will never calm his storms

Watch out, he'll charm you

Smoother than the L.A. weather
That's how he holds himself together
He is colder than the winter
I wrap my coat around to bear the

Cataract of his charm attack
That leaves me hungry
Well, I'm no savior but I tried to save you
With all my love that rages high inside

And he has his minions
With no real opinions
'Cause they all walk on glass

And your lies become the truth
And give me the proof
That you really care

With your gorgeous grin
You have the world sucked in
Believin' in everything you say

Watch out, he'll charm you

Smoother than the L.A. weather
That's how he holds himself together
He is colder than the winter
I wrap my coat around to bear the

Cataract of his charm attack
That leaves me hungry
Well, I'm no savior but I tried to save you
With all my love that rages high inside

Smoother than the L.A. weather
That's how he holds himself together
He is colder than the winter
I wrap my coat around to bear the

Cataract of his charm attack
That leaves me hungry
Well, I'm no savior but I tried to save you
With all, all, all, all

And he stamps on every emotion
And he dampens each and every explosion
And he stamps on every emotion
And he dampens each and every explosion
And he stamps on every emotion
And he dampens each and every explosion
