Walking through a crowded mall when I was small
And mama's hand led the way Then something caught my eye and I turned to look toward the shine
And mama's hand would no longer wait
I turned around and it began standing there panic stricken Every face became the same everyone shouting out names and my heart could Not be tamed, so I stand to call out
Oh mama don't let me go
Cause you know how much I need you
Oh mama don't let me go

Cause you know how much I need you
Cause I need you Need you right now
Walking now no longer small
Been 20 years or more
I had his hand and we walked some way Introspection caught my eye and I turned inside for some time
But his hand would no longer wait
I turned around and it began
