

Chess

"Florence And The American (feat. Adam Pascal, Clarke Peter)"

Visit "Florence And The American \(feat. Adam Pascal, Clarke Peter\)" on MotoLyrics.com

Freddie: [Spoken]

Yeah, but Global will still have to pay me.

Walter: [Spoken]

Our deal was $20,000 a game to play, not to have tantrums!

Freddie: [Spoken]

I shouldn't be dealing with this. Where have you been?

Florence: [Spoken]

Saving your hide as usual. You have a meeting with Anatoly at the Mountain Inn.

Freddie: [Spoken]

Anatoly?

Walter: [Spoken]

Anatoly?

Freddie: [Spoken]

Walter, leave us. So now it's Anatoly. Since when did you two become such good friends? Wonderful, a traitor in my own camp. Whose side are you on?

Florence: [Spoken]

I'm on your side!

Freddie:

So you're saying that
I ought to meet him
On the top of a mountain?

Florence:

You bet!

Freddie:

Can't you see that you're losing your grip, dear?
Are the Communists fooling you too?
Why should I be the only one trying?

Florence:
Wanna lose your only friend?
Well, keep it up, you're doing fine!
Why this humiliation?
Why treat me like a fool?
I've taken shit for seven years,
And I won't take it anymore!

Freddie:
I'm only teasing Soviets
With gentle bonhomie,
And you've a better reason
To be anti-them than me!

Florence:
There's a time and there's a place!

Freddie: [Spoken]
Well, how about here and now?
Are you for me or are you for them?

Florence:
There's a time and there's a place!

Visit Chess page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.