By General Custer's last stand
You know they killed every man Although they gave all they could
The odds were misunderstood Their feathered headress has always amazed me Although I'll admit I'm a pale face.

I never doubted before there'll be an Indian War
I never doubted before there'll be an Indian War
Well
General Custer said
don't be afraid
'Cause the indians won't fight 'til day break

Ah
ah an Indian War. Ah
ah an Indian War. Ah
ah an Indian Old Sitting Bull said we won't take a chance
'Til the cavalry hear of our war dance.

I never doubted before there'll be an Indian War
