A Texan lady came to town
And thus begins my story
She drew a hand with the best in town
Which proved to be her glory

But now the game has ended
The king has had his day
A woman's cause defended
And soon you'll hear them say

She did a man's job
But there was no doubt
She was a Texas lady

One day the sky was hazy
Folks worthy and lazy
Came a Texas lady
To town, to town

She smiled in all her splendor
Gave her hands so tender
Maybe God had sent her
To town

Her heart was filled with yearning
For dreams to start anew
Love with hope returned
Were the dreams she made come true

So now the street is shady
All is calm and hazy
Since a Texas lady
Came to town
Came to town
