i don't know what i'm talking about
i don't know what i'm talking about

day in day out, time after time i look round, i'm way out of line i use you and you use me it's the way of the world but i disagree i have the cash and you have the need i dictate to you - what will be, will be

all is fair in love and war and business too it seems - what are we here for? don't you care if i can make more than i will ever need, but i'm not so sure

i don't know what i'm talking about

sometimes i find myself way out of line my opinions and yours disagree all the time the more i think it over, the more i seem to find the standard you accept, are they too different from mine?

i don't know what i'm talking about
