If you drive thru the silence
Losing sight, going blind
You can try and experience
That will sure blow your mind
If you drive thru the darkness
Miss the light of the sun
Lost in a rain of comets
You can't tell where you are
Sweat running down your helmet
You've been driving too far, too far
Getting tired of emptiness
From your mouth comes a shout
Going wild, feeling helpless
Out of track, no way out
Lost on a secret mission
You can't tell who you are
You should have paid attention
You've been driving too far, too far

If you drive thru the cosmos
Out of sight, out of time
You will join all the heroes
If you drive one more time
