Let me give you some insight into my insides
I haven't been this confused in such a long time
You can't believe I've spent just losing my mind
I can't believe that 10 years have really gone by It's been a long time
Had a plan for every year I've been alive
A million more I've built up inside of me
There's a million more that I have bottled up
And that I've fked up
Do you feel like the hard times are mountains you've climbed
Lying awake
It still feels like it's '89 it's been along time
Those mindless days the plans that I've made
The countless mistakes all the times I've changed
Through the years I faced all that's kept me sane
Every single day
