I've got enough shit to put me down
I don't need to see the sun again
Let the warmth seep into my veins
I've got all night to let my body cool down
You don't get anything from me
You don't mean anything to me
You can't see anything i see
I know two that see the beauty in me
If i believed a word you said
I'd wear a body around my neck
I've been lied to more than once
When i die we'll both be dead

You are being left out you are nothing
And everybody else has something that you want
You are still all alone you are unloved
And everybody else just wants to lie to you
I am still alive you will never beat me
And every single day i will tear you out
I feel your work in me you will never beat me
Your claws leave marks in me
But i can make the sounds that make you go away
