When all the things that you've been thinking
Has you so confused and so unglued
Your head is spinning
Well we've all felt the same inside
I've been on that ledge countless times
And I know what that feels like

You're on your own can't make it through this world all alone
Is this thing on at all? [x2]

When all your friends don't have the answers
And you're so convinced that inch by inch They've turned to strangers
Yeah we've all seen the different sides
No one hears even though you've talked all night
And I know what you feel like

You're on your own can't make it through this world all
alone
Is this thing on at all? [x3]

Can we really measure if we're any better Than that skyline that goes on and on forever on and on?

You're on your own can't make it through this world all
alone
Is this thing on at all? [x3]
