Dear "you won't answer me" did you honestly think i'd ever leave? if you'd somehow just believe me. you've gotta know right now that these words still sting...i've lost everything i've ever touched. the results were eating me up for once i've had enough. landmines-landslides no matter how i try. landmines-landslides every single, i fell asleep while watching tv while the living dead they walk my streets this evening this sitting target's been stuck on the couch again, pretending i'm stable when the panic sets in. the results were eating me up for once i've had enough. landmines-landslides no matter how i try. i'm destined for disaster a failure by design landmines-landslides every single time. i'm destined for disaster i'm trapped on every side. you know how hard i try sometimes, you can see it in my eyes it's always eating me alive the day to day of getting by self-control from all the helplessness i've known i'm a wreck lacking confidence there's no arguments you know.
Landmines-landslides no matter how i try.
I'm destined for disaster a failure by design landmines-landslides every single time. i'm destined for disaster i'm trapped on every side.
